INTRODUCTION

This microcopy consists of records of the German Navy, 1850-1945, microfilmed by the U.S. Naval History Division and transferred to the National Archives, with related accession lists and registers. The microcopy is part of Record Group 242, National Archives Collection of Foreign Records Seized, 1941-.

The German naval records, which span nearly 100 years, were captured virtually intact by Allied Forces in April 1945 at Tambach Castle near Coburg, Germany. These "Tambach records" represent the complete holdings of the War Historical Division of the German Naval Staff dating back to 1850 and include the records of the Prussian Navy, the Imperial German Navy, and the naval establishments of the Weimar Republic and the Third Reich up to May 1945.

The captured German naval archives became the joint property of the United States and British navies but the British Admiralty took actual possession of the records, assigned Admiralty register identification (PG) numbers, and annotated the registers with PG numbers superimposed on the original German registry (KR) numbers. Retained were the German file titles and archival arrangement corresponding to the organizational hierarchy of the German Navy High Command.

Concurrent with British registration and exploitation, a team from the U.S. Office of Naval Intelligence (ONI) microfilmed about two-thirds of these records: an estimated 55 percent bearing on World War II, 30 percent on World War I, and the remaining 15 percent on the period before 1914 or between the two World Wars. Records omitted from this filming consist essentially of muster rolls, administrative files, and logistical records.

The microfilmed records forwarded to Washington totaled about 3900 rolls. Filmed on each roll were several items, all but a few bearing PG numbers. At the time of filming by the U.S. Navy the items dated between 1850 and 1922 were assigned roll numbers in the TA Series and those dated between 1922 and 1945, in the T Series.

At the same time photostats of the British registration books were annotated with U.S. Navy TA Series roll numbers and are reproduced on Roll 1 of this National Archives microcopy to serve as an archival finding aid.

NATIONAL ARCHIVES MICROFILM PUBLICATIONS

Brief descriptions of the subject matter of each filmed document or file were mimeographed by the ONI in the approximate sequence of filming and were assembled as accession lists in 9 volumes. Volumes 1-7 cover the T Series. Volumes 8 and 9, containing the list for the TA Series, were annotated by the National Archives with Microcopy T-1022 roll numbers and are filmed on Roll 2 of this microcopy to serve as a subject-matter finding aid.

Preceding the annotated registers on Roll 1 and the annotated accession lists on Roll 2 are additional finding aids consisting of (1) list of consecutive Microcopy T-1022 roll numbers, with corresponding TA roll numbers and PG document numbers; (2) list of PG document numbers in sequence, with corresponding TA and T-1022 roll numbers; and (3) list of prices for Rolls 1-1659 of Microcopy T-1022.

The TA Series rolls accessioned by the National Archives have been assigned Microcopy T-1022 roll numbers from 3 to 1626. The U.S. Naval History Division sent to the National Archives for filming 56 German naval documents bearing no TA Series numbers but listed under Admiralty register (PG) numbers at the end of volume 9. These documents are filmed on rolls numbered from 1627 to 1659.

Roll numbers beginning with 1660 have been assigned by the National Archives to the T Series. Microfilmed finding aids to the T Series, similar to those for the TA Series on Rolls 1 and 2, are reproduced on the concluding rolls of Microcopy T-1022.

Between 1955 and 1965 the British Admiralty had returned the "Tambach records" to the Bundesarchiv-Militaerarchiv in Freiburg im Breisgau. In 1969 the 56 German naval documents listed under Admiralty register (PG) numbers and in the custody of the U.S. Naval History Division were returned to Germany for interfiling among the "Tambach records."

Anton F. Grassl arranged the U.S. Navy microfilm for copying by the National Archives and annotated the finding aids reproduced on Rolls 1 and 2 of Microcopy T-1022.

NOTES ON ROLL 2

The PG documents in the TA Series rolls were filmed by the ONI on five cameras designated with letters A, C, D, E, and F (the B camera was not used). Within each letter subseries the rolls are arranged numerically, but the five subseries are intermingled in the accession lists reproduced on this finding aid roll. For example, the first few pages in volume 8 will have numbers from TA-1-A to TA-10-A, the next few pages will have some numbers ending in letters D, E, or F, and then there is a continuation of letters A, D, E, or F. The letter C begins at the latter part of the volume.

The documents are divided between the 2 volumes as follows:

TA Series
Volume 8	Volume 9
1-A - 158-A	159-A - 409-A
1-C - 17-C	18-C - 205-C
1-D - 193-D	194-D - 300-D
1-E - 214-E	215-E - 380-E
1-F - 172-F	173-F - 325-F

In volume 8 the British Admiralty register (PG) numbers range from 61500 to 75918, and in volume 9, from 60000 to 95640, with gaps in both series. PG documents omitted in volume 8 may be in volume 9 but those missing in both volumes were not filmed under the ONI project.

The dates overlap between the 2 volumes. Documents in volume 8 are dated from 1850-1921, with one document dated 1849. Documents in volume 9 are dated from 1888-1922.
