

Armeeoberkommando 10 (Tenth Army)*

The Tenth Army was formed on September 1, 1939, from the former Army Group 4 under the command of General Walter von Reichenau. It took part in the campaign in Poland until early in October when it was redesignated Twelfth Army and transferred to the western front. In August 1943 a new Tenth Army was formed which served in Italy until disbanded on May 2, 1945. It was responsible for the original defense of Italy against Allied landings at Salerno. When this front merged with the Anzio beachhead during the Allied drive in May 1944, the Tenth Army became responsible for the Adriatic sector of the Italian front. Commanders between 1943 and 1945 were Generals Heinrich von Vietinghoff, Joachim Lemelsen, and Traugott Herr.
